DESTINATIONS INTERNATIONAL

As the world’s largest and most reliable resource for destination organizations, we know our members are essential to the success of destinations worldwide. Destinations International is committed to understanding how we can serve European destination organizations and share valuable knowledge about the progressive work being done in Europe with our North American and global community.

President & CEO,
Destinations International

EUROPEAN ENGAGEMENT

If we are to create a value proposition for the diverse needs of European destinations, we need a variety of destination organisations on the journey with us.

‘Nothing about us without us’ is a motto used by the disability rights movement. It relies on the principle of participation.

Participation is how we will advance the challenges our industry is facing. We need to listen deeply, understand the changing landscape and together create solutions.

– JANE CUNNINGHAM
Director of European Engagement,
Destinations International

Tourism management has never been as challenging as it currently is. Post pandemic market with labor issues and strong focus on sustainability, EDI and digitalization place DMOs under enormous pressure to serve their communities and visitors.

Destinations International offers resources, networks and tools to cope with this changing ecosystem. With the help of DI, European DMOs have a much better chance to build their competence and competitiveness by learning from other DMOs across the globe. This kind of collaboration will build smart and responsible tourism destinations of the future.

– YRJÖTAPIO (YT) KIVISAARI
CEO, Visit Oulu
Board of Directors, Destinations International

WHAT WE BELIEVE

Whether it be a convention bureau or a tourism organisation, the goal remains the same: to leverage the visitor economy to make your community a more vibrant, prosperous, and sustainable place to live, work, and play.

Our stakeholders are our residents, and we are an essential asset in our communities.

We believe that work of destination organisations is for the benefit and well being of every person in a community.

We believe the power of travel must be channeled to build our communities in a successful and sustainable manner.

Destinations International provides valuable resources to assist Destination DC in creating a strategic roadmap. Convention tools, advocacy support, professional development and idea exchanges are ways DI supports our national and global efforts to achieve maximum impact in our destination, both economically and socially.

– MELISSA RILEY
Senior Vice President,
Convention Sales and Services,
Destination DC

Destinations International offers tools, resources and education to support successful and sustainable destination organizations.

THE PATHFINDER PROGRAMME

The Destinations International Pathfinders Programme is comprised of forward-looking European destination professionals committed to tackling key issues facing destination organizations today.

The Pathfinders work with Destinations International to identify the most significant issues facing European destination organizations and prioritize opportunities for Destinations International, our members, and our partners to address these threats.

The Pathfinders serve as an advisory group, collaborating with Destinations International to identify key opportunities to create value for European destination organizations.

We are facing global challenges and we need to find global answers together.

THE PROCESS

Our approach is to focus on three key transformational opportunities for destination organizations: Community Alignment, Destination Stewardship, and Values-Based Action

We created a platform for open knowledge sharing between North American and European destinations with support from our European partners through a series of online and in person activities over the course of 10 months.

“Destination organizations are expanding their roles in many directions. They are aligning with government and community organizations more intentionally to support initiatives designed to improve social issues and local quality of life; fuel priority sector development; attract outside investment and high-value talent; and elevate the overall destination brand beyond a tourism lens.”

New KPIs

Antwerp Convention Bureau

CREATING RELEVANT KPIS

The case studies demonstrate the innovative and impactful work being done by destination organisations. Impact, legacy and the need for new KPIs have been key discussion areas.

Destinations International is working on a community indicator.

Through community alignment, relevant indicators can be identified for each destination organisation. How we articulate our value should be presented across two areas: logic and emotion. For example:

Logic

Economic Development

Tax revenue, employment rate, jobs created, inward investment, sector development, trade

Talent Acquisition

To support industry sectors, university researchers, university students

Quality of Place

New businesses, start ups, innovation hubs, R&D

Emotion

Sentiment

Citizen, visitor, business

Perception

Safety & security, sense of belonging and welcoming

Quality of Life

Prosperity, safety, environmental, inclusion, accessibility, increased opportunities, tackle social issues homelessness, affordable housing, etc.

THE JOURNEY CONTINUES

The Pathfinders Programme will continue with a series of activities online and in person. Together with our partners and members we will drive solutions that will elevate the industry.

CASE STUDIES

ANTWERP & PARTNERS CONVENTION BUREAU AND VISIT ANTWERP

The Project

Mobile Data Dashboard

The Challenge

- Understand Antwerp visitors and their movements around the city
- What surges of people in different city areas occur
- Why are some city areas suddenly/ on some days busier than others

The Solution

The Data Dashboard is an internal application used to better understand the visitors of the city (day visits, overnight visitors) and analyze their movement in the city.

With the dashboard, Visit Antwerp will have a solid understanding of the peaks of visitors in certain areas of the city.

The Outcomes

- The Dashboard provides:
- A better understanding of the number of visitors and their movements around Antwerp.
 - What impacts the number of visitors

The Path Ahead

The next step is collecting the data from city partners, and including all bigger events that attract visitors in the dashboard.

It is our ambition to use the data collected to steer urban development, and mobility in the future.

ATHENS DEVELOPMENT & DESTINATION MANAGEMENT AGENCY

The Project

This is Athens & Partners

The Challenge

- After 10 years recession the city's infrastructure was neglected.
- Not enough funds to promote Athens.
- The number of visitors is increasing rapidly projected to overcome 2019's 6.4m in 2023.
- Residents are starting to experience over-tourism.
- Athens limited green spaces are over-visited.
- Heatwaves have increased in duration and frequency.
- The unemployment rate is 12.4%
- Local businesses need to benefit from the tourism boom.
- Tourism stakeholders are promoting the destination each for themselves.

The Solution

- Build collaborations and public-private partnerships that contribute to social, business, and urban development.
- Adopt a holistic approach in tourism.
- Promote Athens as a year-round destination.
- Establish Athens as a destination, not only as a stop-over.
- Utilize tourism as a tool for urban development.
- Bring in key stakeholders for the development of the city.
- Democratise policy making processes.
- Focus on the sustainability of the city as an urban environment and a destination.

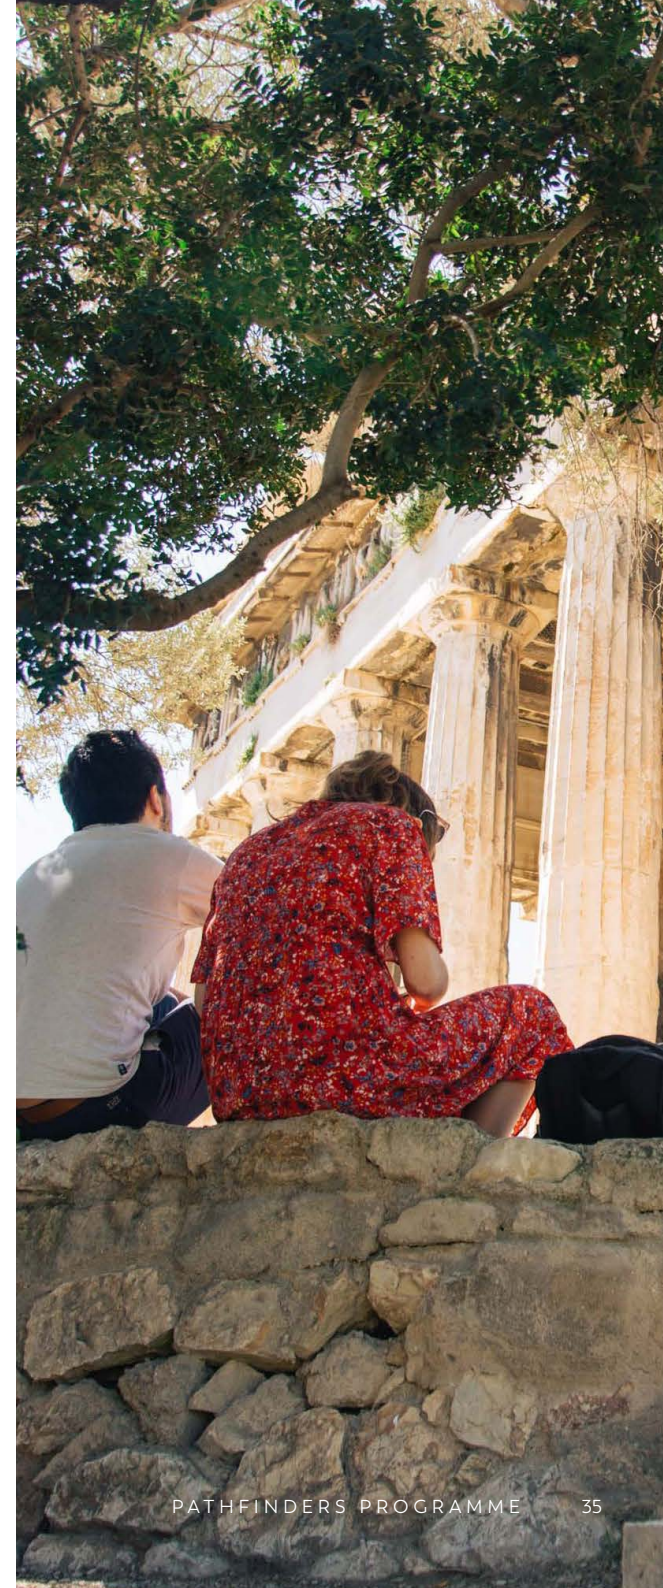

The Outcomes

- This is Athens & Partners: Form a united destination marketing body with key stakeholders.
- Develop initiatives with local Commerce and Trade associations to benefit local business, like Athens is Back, an online platform for offers and sale promotion.
- Develop in collaboration (open call) with the local art community Athens City Festival, attracting visitors off-season.
- Assess the destination's sustainability with the help of GSTC.
- Explore the impact of tourism on cultural heritage infrastructure with WTACH.
- Ask Organizations to Adopt the City, funding essential green and blue infrastructure projects (34 fountains & 12 Pocket Parks)
- Attract Conferences, Events and Film Production via This is Athens - CVB & Athens Film Office off season
- Establish INNOVATHENS and Athens Digital Lab to promote business development and lot solutions for local businesses.

The Path Ahead

- Give guidance to local businesses to become more sustainable, through our Athens Business Green Toolkit.
- Revive vacant spaces and stimulating commercial activity by supporting pop-up shops.
- Implementation of an ambitious program to revive Stadiou, a main avenue in Athens.
- Set a three-year plan to increase the number of international conferences and events, implemented by This is Athens – CVB.
- Advocate, educate and regulate the Greek Meetings industry in a national level through the Greek Meetings Alliance.
- Enhance volunteer programs like Athens with a local.
- Collaborate with Universities for Numerical and Sentimental data on livability and sustainability.
- Double Regeneration plan for Votanikos neighborhood.
- Get certified as a sustainable destination by Green Destinations.

BARCELONA TURISME

The Project

City and Tourism Council

The Challenge

- Barcelona has become a global tourist destination contributing to 14% of the city's GNP
- This generated excessive concentration of tourism on specific areas of the city creating greater pressure on the territory
- Seeing tourism as a main asset for the city, but also as a collective and public domain.
- Move from public-private TO public-private-community decision making.

The Solution

Tourism is one of the city's main assets. Sustaining it is a collective responsibility .

Created an inclusive council made of multiple stakeholders and community members:

- Advising the local government on local initiatives, policies and strategic lines of action in the area of tourism, from a global perspective.
- Proposing policies on tourism and to ensure its sustainability.
- Producing studies and opinions on issues concerning its sector, at the request of the Mayor.

The Outcomes

- The meaning of dialogue: noise vs conversation
- Understand the limits and possibilities
- •Be patient: intangibility.
- Talk, connect, act
- The council is not a straight avenue to consensus, but a winding path: let's walking together!

The Path Ahead

Bring in more citizens and associations that represent the greater population. The council members are representatives of different sectors of the city, organized in associations that feel impacted/involved by Tourism issues: all city associations are called to be part of the Council, but, of course, not all apply (they are chosen by an election process)

CHARLOTTESVILLE ALBEMARLE CONVENTION & VISITORS BUREAU

The Project

Tourism for All

The Challenge

- Events were generating negative press and perspective on the city.
- Addressing that the press had to be met with real steps toward change and creating a welcoming environment for which our entire community could be proud.
- Aligning community shared values with residents, businesses and the visitor experience and leveraging that work into attracting new visitors and creating positive media coverage for the destination.

The Solution

- Facilitate several meetings in partnership with DI and TripAdvisor that have helped craft the vision and created documents that support that vision, including a marketing handbook with guidance on how to market inclusively and an EDI pledge that includes pillars for action steps and metrics.
- Create a safe space for community members to voice opinions through numerous affinity groups in the community.
- Built trust and actively learn by working with the community to create vision, find ambassadors for the work and build awareness.
- Educate businesses that don't normally get involved – the creation of Discover Black Cville, a marketing platform aimed at representing a major part of the community.
- Develop accessibility assessments through Wheel the World so we can appropriately assist travelers with disabilities.

The Outcomes

- Discover Black Cville has generated significant positive press coverage for our community and promotes local black businesses to give them extra support accessing the tourism economy.
- Finished 62 accessibility assessments with partners.
- We are tracking the overall outcomes through the EDI action plan metrics and through TripAdvisor by tracking inclusive and welcoming language used in reviews and chats over a 5 year period of time to see how our participating businesses trend with ratings and the language used to describe the visitor experience.

The Path Ahead

- The work for maintaining a welcoming environment for all visitors to a community is never complete.
- As we learn more and grow, we are developing intentional tour products that give voice to under-told stories and educating residents and businesses about what being a welcoming community means.
- Since this work is so new, we would love to hear from other DI members on their successes and learning so we can craft best practices together and grow as an industry. Participating in the first-ever EDI Summit for DI next fall will bring those of us together who are interested in this work so we can collaborate. I hope to meet you there.

DESTINATION GREATER VICTORIA

The Project

Circular Tourism Economy

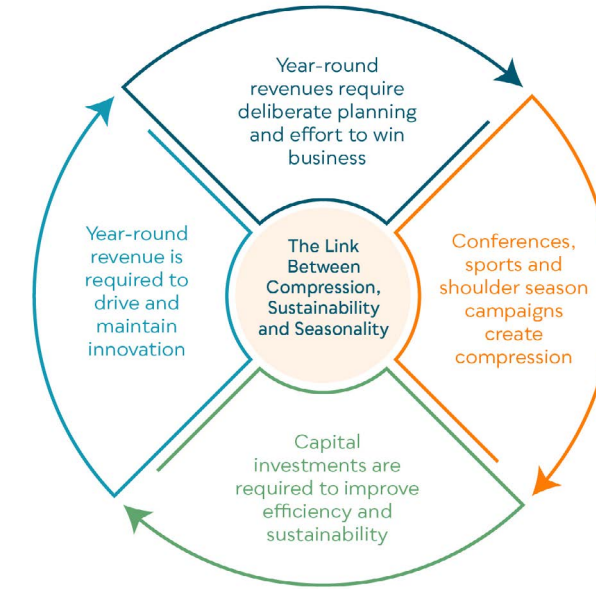

The Challenge

- There isn't a clear blueprint for how a medium size DMO can take scaled-up action toward sustainability and circular economy for a destination.
- Massive capital investment is needed, and the private sector bears much of the cost and risk. There is also a long-term financial in not adopting sustainability as core business practice.
- Residents are very politically engaged, particularly on environmental issues.

The Solution

- DGV made a deliberate choice to tackle sustainability in strategic and practical ways, providing support to our members, and in alignment with local community values.
- Work strategically to stimulate predictable, year-round revenues for our members, addressing seasonality, which allows our members the revenue to be able to make investments in sustainability.
- DGV demonstrates local and international leadership in sustainable tourism, and ensures we actively engaged with residents, businesses, and government.
- DGV also inspires thought leadership, and action through the IMPACT Sustainability Travel & Tourism Conference.

The Outcomes

Destination Greater Victoria achieved recognition as North America's first carbon neutral DMO and Conference Centre. This was accomplished over three years.

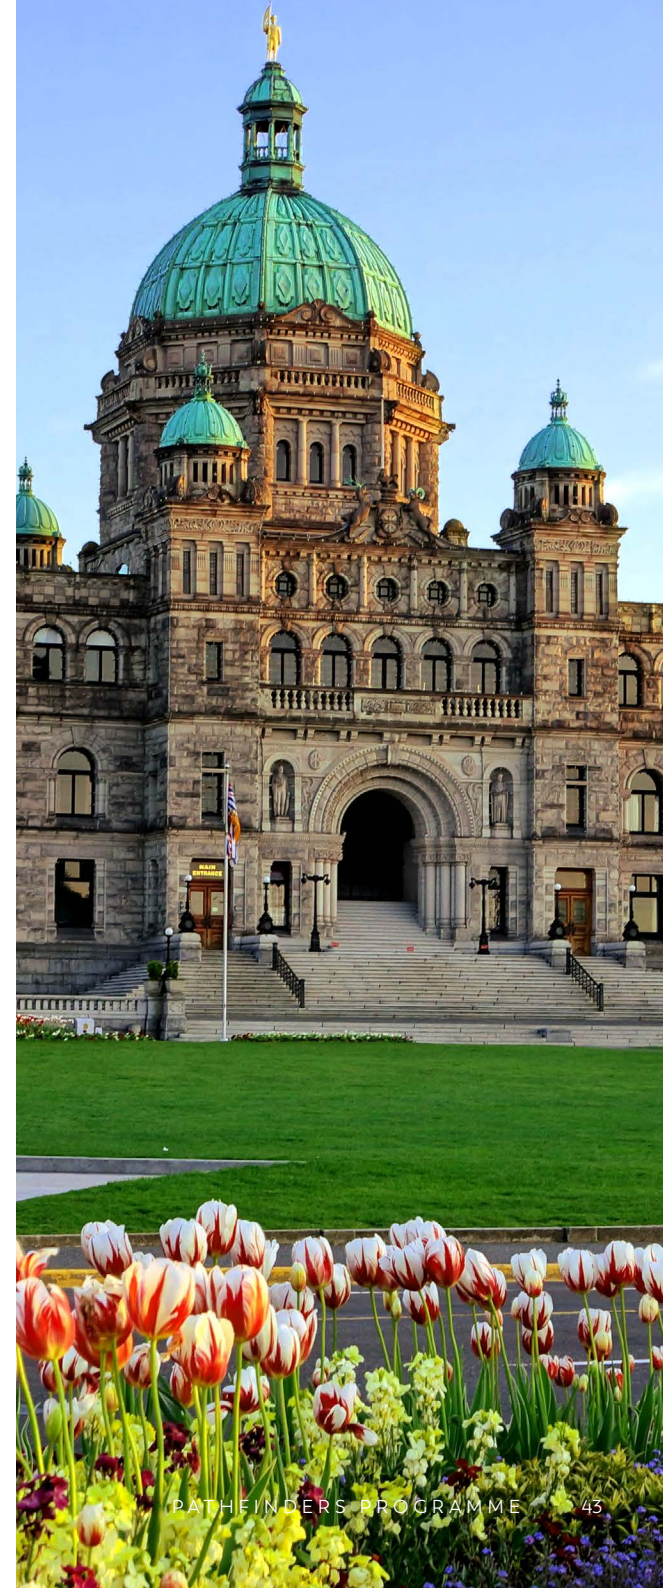

Destination Greater Victoria:

- Supports and highlights the sustainability initiatives of our members.
- Aligns our efforts to local, Provincial, and Federal climate and waste targets and strategies.
- Continues to have strong support from residents, and local businesses for the visitor economy and the work of Destination Greater Victoria.

The Path Ahead

- Destination Greater Victoria aims to be a global leader in regenerative and circular tourism.
- DGV will work with partners to build a circular economy at scale and aims to demonstrate to the world what a circular visitor economy can look like while continuing to deliver shared value for residents, local businesses, and visitors.
- Continuously committed to the Biosphere Certification process

EAST SWEDEN CONVENTION BUREAU

The Project

The Fenix (Phoenix) Fund

The Challenge

A need to strengthen and rebuild meetings and events as drivers of place development, growth and social sustainability.

The Solution

- Collaboration between ESCVB and the Department of Business and Development in Norrköping with support from The Swedish Agency for Economic and Regional Growth.
- Create an easy-to-access funding guidance document that lists all available subsidies and grants connected to the UN's SDG's
- To be available for local, national and international event organizers to access and share.
- As part of funding requirements, it is requested that all proposals take legacy/ impact into account in the event planning.
 - Including a fund focused around enhancing the public image of Norrköping as a dynamic place to live, work and host live events
 - Innovative concepts connected to local areas of strength such as visualization, logistics or music are encouraged.

The Outcomes

- This fund has helped kick start the industry and venues back to life post pandemic.
- A showcase festival, Future Echoes, has been established.
- To date 14 applicants have been approved for funding up until 2025. More applications are coming in.
- 2,6M SEK of the 4,5M SEK have been disbursed so far. A maximum of 500 K SEK can be applied and approved for per application.
- We are please to see that there's been a great variety of themes in the applications for funding: exhibition, theatre, new circus, place development, new venues, gaming and different genre of music performances; classic to rap.

The Path Ahead

We hope that the Fenix fund will live on beyond the three year project period and that it will have given such results that it will continue to grow and develop and support the live industry while it continues making Norrköping an even more attractive, and progressive destination for national and international live industry events.

- Help with developing/refining it
- We would be happy to have a discussion with anyone interested in this. We might have friends among us who have developed similar projects. It would be great to share best practice sessions with.

FÁILTEIRELAND NATIONAL TOURISM DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY

The Project

Dingle Peninsula Destination & Experience Development Plan (DEDP)

The Challenge

- To develop a sustainable basis for the destination centered on creating experiences that excite consumers and buyers alike by focusing on the preservation of the natural and cultural heritage of the area.
- To encourage international visitors to immerse themselves actively in the locale by delivering memorable moments that inspire tourists to not only share their experience with others but also encourage them to return.
- To motivate tourists to visit and stay in the local communities across the Dingle Peninsula through increased dispersion of visitors across all the communities throughout the year.

The Solution

- The formation of the Dingle DEDP Implementation group which was given the task in conjunction with Fáilte Ireland to implement the Dingle DEDP Plan over a five-year period (2021 – 2025).
- This implementation work started in January 2021 and followed a preliminary period of two years researching, developing and writing the Plan itself.
- The projects and destination development activities in the Dingle DEDP were organised into an experience development framework and were then adopted by a Working group made up of Industry, Community and relevant stakeholders

The Outcomes

- The plan gives the destination a vehicle and structure with which the destination can develop and target common goals and actions as a unified collective.
- The formation of a cohesive unified Implementation Group with common agreed shared actions.
- A five-year vision for the Destination that all relevant stakeholders / partners can adopt as part of their own internal action plans.
- Prioritization of projects for resources from stakeholders should they arise during the lifetime of the Plan.
- Over 98% of Actions in the Dingle DEDP Plan are currently in the green or orange category, so complete or moving forward.

The Path Ahead

- To establish a Sustainable Energy Community (SEC) for tourism / hospitality businesses on the Dingle Peninsula.
- To develop an Energy Masterplan within the SEC, where sector specific interventions will be recommended and will have a significant impact in reducing the carbon output of the SEC. These interventions will also have a huge financial impact in reducing the monthly overheads of businesses.
- This project will lend itself to the promotion of Corca Dhuibhne (Dingle Peninsula) as a Sustainable Tourism Destination and will act as a catalyst in shaping Ireland's development of sustainable tourism destinations across the country.

GENEVA CONVENTION BUREAU

The Project

Geneva Excellence Club

The Challenge

Meeting visitors where they are in order to share accurate destination knowledge that can benefit the visitor and the destination.

The Solution

- An educational club for community staff members with direct point of contact to the visitors.
 - Physical reception at the tourist office
 - Outsourced physical reception: Visitors' Center at the airport, reception at convention centers, reception at hotels;
 - Digital reception: website, chats, Google Map, smart assistants (Siri, Alexa, etc.).
- It offers varied, practical and fun training courses on destination knowledge.
- Members receive benefits at each level and are invited to networking events.

The Outcomes

- Start of the education programme with A Destination Course and a Visit of the old town with an online training module and quiz to become Excellence Club Member (level 1).
- We are convinced that the two most promising points of contact are at hotel receptions as well as on websites and that we must ensure that smart assistants can find the most relevant information.
- It is a fundamental work requiring the involvement of all the actors of a destination.

The Path Ahead

We plan to:

- A Market Training & Thematic Guided Tours to become a Excellence Club Specialist (level 2)
- Establish a further programme in 2024 to become an Excellence Club Ambassador (level 3)
- Eventually, more than the majority of people in direct contact with tourists are able to provide information and a quality welcome in Geneva.

HUNGARIAN TOURISM AGENCY

The Project

The National Tourism Data Supply Centre (NTAK)

The Challenge

- The variable, paper-based data supply practice no longer satisfies the challenges of our times when fast response is required.
- The employees of the sector and those working on the development of the sector can only rely effectively on full and up-to-date information.

The Solution

- The aim of the National Tourism Data Supply Centre is to help tourism development and enhance competitiveness through the digitization of the accommodation services industry.
- Availability of a sufficient quantity of up-to-date information of sufficient depth required for tourism development decisions.
 - Tourism may be organised and developed well with a clear understanding of what works and what does not in the sector.
 - Each accommodation facility can fulfill their data registration obligation required in relation to guest registration digitally, by using a hotel management software.
 - Data is being stored and processed, and structured reports and analyses are prepared from it.

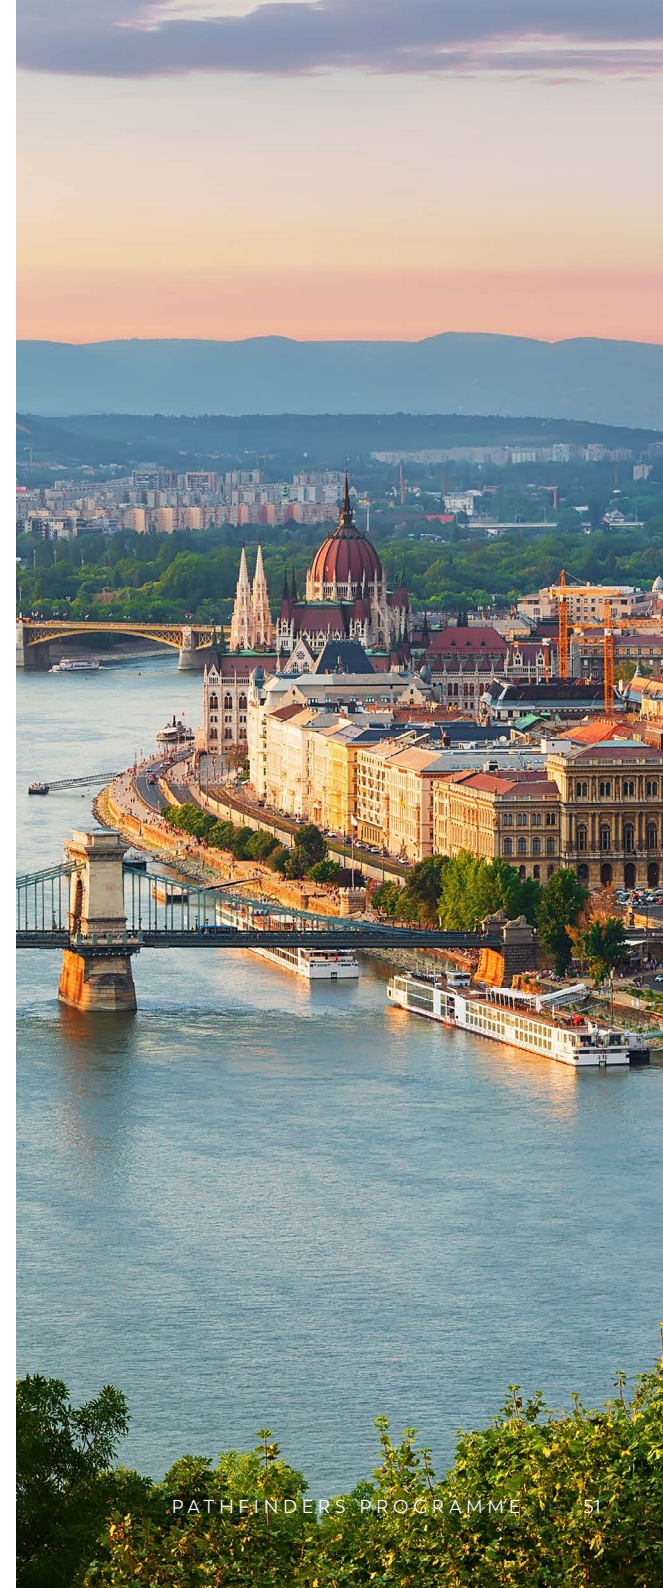

The Outcomes

With the help of NTAK, we see not only the past, the present, but also partly predict the future based on the advance bookings of the accommodation establishments. We can see the trends and changes, which further help us in planning and preparation.

The Path Ahead

Starting from July 1st, 2023, NTAK will also be able to collect and analyse detailed data of about 50,000 restaurants and 10,000 tourist attractions. This decision-supporting system – that is unique all over Europe – will display real-time data of all tourism suppliers. The information that we gain through the system enables us to enhance the productivity of data-driven management in the tourism sector and supports operations and overall competitiveness of suppliers.

LOS ANGELES TOURISM AND CONVENTION BOARD

The Project

Increasing access to the economic benefits of tourism among historically underserved communities and businesses in Los Angeles.

The Challenge

- Support the organization's ongoing commitment to create a more equitable and inclusive tourism industry.
- To increase member representation from historically underserved communities and enable these local, small businesses to realized increased revenues through tourism.
- Difficulty in finding a significant number of diverse businesses through the City's portal. They explained that there is a historical legacy and perception that small businesses from underserved communities rarely receive city contracts. On that basis, we understood that we needed to take a non-traditional approach if we were to successfully meet our objectives.

The Solution

- Consulted with members of Los Angeles Tourism's Community Advisory Board- a volunteer group of 30 community leaders representing the breadth of LA's diversity who helped us reach members of the community that were under-represented.
- We empowered our Community Advisory Board to nominate any diverse, local business that they believed could benefit from tourism for Los Angeles Tourism Membership, waiving their member dues for 24 months.
- We partnered with the Los Angeles Sports & Entertainment Commission, whose Business Connect program offers local companies from historically underserved communities the opportunity to submit a formal proposal to provide goods and services for major sporting events like the Super Bowl.

The Outcomes

We welcomed 142 new/diverse small businesses as Los Angeles Tourism Members, representing a 16% increase in our total Membership.

- We offered every local business that had submitted a bid through Business Connect – regardless of whether their bid was successful – the same opportunity to become a Los Angeles Tourism Member, again, with Member dues waived for 24 months.

The Path Ahead

By waiving their member dues for two years, we will be able to collaborate with these companies to:

1. Help them understand how to most effectively attract visitors to their businesses
2. Provide the ability to connect directly with existing Los Angeles Tourism Members to expand their professional networks and identify new business opportunities
3. Provide us with key learnings so that we can better attract and support Members from historically underserved communities.

MALMÖ CONVENTION BUREAU

The Project

Strategic Event Selection

The Challenge

MCB needed a more strategic approach to attract events into the city.

To carefully select events that have the potential to generate an impact for both the community and the ecosystem but also create pre-conditions for inclusive and sustainable development.

The Solution

We started the project of mapping stronghold sectors in the Region of Scania and the city of Malmö. How can congresses and business events be utilized to strengthen these sectors and become a tool for transition?

We started to focus on events that had the potential of becoming recurrent instead of rotating nationally or internationally.

Together with our clients we started setting goals based upon targets outside the actual scope of the congress/business event. Targets on a long-term basis with a lasting effect for the community.

The Outcomes

- We have a much closer collaboration with colleagues and a tighter dialogue with stakeholders working with companies and organizations that want to invest in Malmö.
- We have a broader internal (political and public officials) and external understanding on the potential of congresses and business events and how they can be utilized as strategic tools to achieve the intended change.

The Path Ahead

Next steps are to define KPI's that are easy to understand, measure and communicate.

MEETINWALES

The Project

SQLBits 2023: Working Toward An Inclusive Event

The Challenge

SQLBits hosts an annual event consisting of 2,000 data technicians and IT specialists, over a 5-day period. This is a delegation that has a natural inclination to online content, and often away from live events.

SQLBits wanted to:

- encourage more of their community to attend in person
- take the additional benefits from learning and networking face to face
- to create an event where they would feel comfortable

The Solution

SQLBit chose Wales as their host destination because Wales is unique in its support for wellbeing, being one of the only destinations in the world to have legislation that supports it; the 'Well-being of Future Generations Act'.

With this support structure in place, SQLBits sought to:

- Create a comfortable and welcoming environment to delegates who had not previously felt comfortable attending a large event of this kind
- Allow every delegate the option to opt in and out of content and networking
- Create an environment of safety and enjoyment across the event
- Underline the events approach to wellness, with other 'values-based' commitments around inclusivity and sustainability

The Outcomes

A number of initiatives were implemented that gave flexibility and choice to delegates.

- Event chaperones
- Inclusive areas and services from sensory to faith rooms.
- Variety of options to gain access to content
- Funding to support free access for all delegates to Saturday's sessions,
- Promotion of the Welsh Language
- Marketing of Wales as a destination
- Welsh entertainment, singing
- The event also offered a number of community engagement initiatives, including:
 - Local community helpers
 - Litter pick-ups with the local girl guide groups in Newport
- This all took place under the backdrop of a 'green' host venue in ICC Wales.

The Path Ahead

There are a number of initiatives that can be replicated across every event regardless of location or venue.

- Breaking down barriers to face-to-face
- Underlining wellness as an evolving 'value' within events. Sitting directly next to inclusion
- How destination and cultural experience can be weaved into this kind of approach in a way that adds huge value
- How event content needs to be dynamic, both in the way it is presented, but how and where it is consumed by the delegates

NETHERLANDS BOARD OF TOURISM AND CONVENTIONS

The Project

Perspective 2030

The Challenge

- In response to overcrowded attention in Amsterdam and the rejection of tourism from residents
- The need to focus marketing efforts differently
- A need to focus on a holistic approach involving partnerships, residents and strategic marketing efforts.

The Solution

- Worked together with stakeholders, city, provincial and national government to determine how they wanted to continue as a destination.
- Connected with the visitors, while developing a more positive attitude toward tourism and visitors.
- Worked with residents by surveying and researching, understanding what types of festivals they wanted and educating them on the benefits of tourism
- Marketing - Needed to market to a 'new traveler'
 - There is more to the Netherlands than Amsterdam
 - The new traveler – we don't want everyone, although we welcome everyone. We want the people who want to be here, and immerse themselves

The Outcomes

- Determined the destinations core values: Open, inclusive and inventive
- Now city councils help communicate tourism benefits and initiatives to the residents
- Marketing – “Right visitor, at the right place, at the right time”
 - Campaign: 'Bring yourself and we will do the same'

The Path Ahead

- Continue with data collection via the National Data Alliance
- Reassess the work that still needs to be done
- Continue to focus on a holistic approach
- Develop tools to measure environmental and social impact

NEW YORK CITY TOURISM + CONVENTIONS

The Project

NYC Local Legends

The Challenge

A need to promote New York City’s traditional tourism corridors while also encouraging visitors to explore beyond them and support local businesses, especially those owned by women and BIPOC communities.

The Solution

NYC & Company created a digital series called NYC Local Legends, featuring five separate films showcasing the neighborhoods of New York City through the perspectives of longtime New Yorkers. The series’ first installment focused on Mott Haven, a now-vibrant area in the South Bronx historically associated with urban blight, and highlighted the cultural significance and offerings of the neighborhood and its welcoming local businesses, many of which are Black and/or Latino-owned.

The Outcomes

The NYC Local Legends: Mott Haven episode garnered over 1.4 million views across social media, was well received by locals, other New Yorkers, visitors, and travel industry professionals, and encouraged visitation to the area.

The Path Ahead

NYC & Company will continue to produce and promote additional episodes in the NYC Local Legends series to showcase other neighborhoods and support local businesses across the five boroughs.

The Destinations International global community could support NYC & Company in this work by promoting the series to their respective audiences and sharing best practices for promoting diversity and inclusion in the tourism industry.

The Project

Stratford Destination Animation Fund: Resources for Sustainable Asset Development and Stakeholder Engagement

The Challenge

As early as 2014, RTO4 began working on a model of sustainable tourism developments based on five key principles:

1. Hygiene first — fix broken things in the real world and in the digital world
2. Destination network — sustainable destinations are the result of engaged communities
3. Create a shared story brand — no channel rules, authentic experience is key
4. Focus on the visitor experience
5. Enable engagement — deal with disruption at the destination and operator level

The Solution

The Stratford Destination Animation Fund is part of RTO4's incubator approach to tourism product development and marketing.

- The initiative offers business operators matching funds to create new or enhanced tourism experiences that align with the destination's core DNA — the things that make it unique.
- The experiences must be highly “shareable” and “highly shared,” and the operator must execute, measure, and report on that metric.
- Address three of the key principles:
 1. To enable the operator to connect better in a digital world
 2. Stratify and confer value to a network of stakeholders working together with the regional office to amplify their unique place and brand.
 3. Enhance the visitor experience by adding authentic animation to place relevant DNA.

The Outcomes

- The destination animation fund was pioneered in 2017 and has since then successfully been executed and relaunched with remarkable results, world press-worthy animations, and events for the last five years.
- The network of stakeholders in Stratford who consider themselves a key part of the tourism milieu has never been stronger.
- The destination continues to thrive and fulfill its own stated mandate of becoming “a cultural resort town” built on the strength of its theater backbone, but very much created and expanded by the hands of many partners.
- The fund has been expanded to three other cities

The Path Ahead

- Continue with implementing concepts of community alignment into destinations who can benefit the most
- Work on tools and processes that help destinations engage with their stakeholders
- Things like the destination animation fund, digital tools for stakeholders, and collective destination planning, visioning, and storytelling are essential.

VISIT DALLAS

The Project

The Dallas Comprehensive & Environmental Climate Action Plan

The Challenge

- Getting popular support for “sustainability” measures is difficult in a polarized political climate where a new government (state or country) can change opinions quite drastically.
- Texas relies on oil and there has been pushback against sustainability efforts for clean energy.

The Solution

Developed by the Office of Environmental Quality and Sustainability to address “climate change and environmental planning, waste and recycling, water conservation, air and storm water enforcement, environmental outreach, and community engagement.” Includes cross-sector public and private partnerships.

VISIT OULU

The Project

Smart Tourism Destination

The Challenge

Create a shared data dashboard and obtain the most important data/metrics of the tourism destination, including:

1. Visitor profile
2. Visitor feedback
3. Tourism generated turnover in the regional area
4. Level of digitalization in local tourism companies
5. Reservation data
6. Sustainability information
7. Ability to create products for international tourists by the local tourism companies
8. Marketing analysis

The Solution

Oulu and the other 9 counties applied to EU Smart Tourism Destination programme and started to develop a dashboard to be able to create a data driven destination. Funding was obtained from EU and the project was driven together with bid winning partnering companies.

The Outcomes

Data provides tools especially for marketing and product development. It also justifies the financing of the DMOs as it shows the importance of tourism to local economy.

The Path Ahead

The dashboard will be further developed and the goal is to integrate new tools including surveys and survey analysis, tourism information visitor data, consumer purchase behavior etc.
